Issue 9

A storm brought havoc to Opening Ceremonies. A Halloween night of trickery and darkness, indeed.

Significant action will follow, so justice can be delivered and secured.

More information will be released to all parents and participants on how heightened safety will be the top priority for all Niche Clinic events moving forward.

As a resolution towards Halloween's events proceeds, let's place our focus on our attention on the time ahead.

Niche Night #1, originally scheduled for this coming Thursday, has been postponed until Thursday, December 21st.

We fill first re-host Opening Ceremonies.

Re-Opening Ceremonies will be on Saturday, December 9th from 12pm to 3pm.

Saturday, Dec 9
12pm - 3pm

Counter Culture,
514 South Street

RE-OPENING CEREMONIES

$75-$100 contracts will be re-offered during an epic Niche Coin scavenger hunt across South Philly and South Center City.

Food and dessert provided

Parking stinks and The Niche Clinic cannot reimburse for parkng. Free SEPTA passes are available for you and your family before the event, just make sure to request them in advance. Parents are encouraged to observe presentations.

It will be bigger, badder, and better planned than the original.

Re-Opening Ceremonies will run from 12pm to 3pm, and the adventure starts on the first floor of Counter Culture, 514 South Street at exactly noon. We hope not to delay the event's kick-off a moment past twelve.

Until then, a new UnSecurity will hit the market.

The Niche Bond like it's never been done before

The New Niche Bond is currently being issued at Olney High, Camden Prep, String Theory, PAAN, and Philly connect. Those who re-attend Opening Ceremonies will be entitled to one as well.

Only those who completed the survey on the original Opening Ceremonies this past Halloween will receive the $25 they are entitled to, plus a fresh new Niche Bond. (Those who missed the survey, attended the original Opening Ceremonies, and then attend the Re-Opening Ceremonies will be given a Niche Bond as well.)

The details of this new take on an old asset will be revealed next week, along with our financial calculator video series.
