Issue 18

The staff at The Niche Clinic feel we have been creating some unnecessary confusion - and usually when students and families are confused, it's entirely Mr. LaSalle's fault.

A LOT GOING ON AT THE MOMENT

With circulating Niche Coins, different colored contracts, and programming occurring in different areas of the City, perhaps it's best to take a breather and make sure everyone feels they have all the information they need to be successful.

One of the mottos of The Niche Clinic is that "stressed out students cannot learn." Your brain can be fearful, worried, and anxious or it can be fully immersed in the content and experiences of knowledge - it cannot do both.

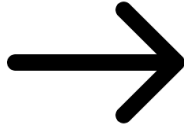

To ensure all students and families feel they are ready for success, we will be hosting a new kind of event - Niche Coin Buy-Back. Our Niche Coin Buy-Back event will occur on Saturday February 3rd. (See the last page of this newsletter for the flyer.)

For this event, you should bring all your old Niche Coins - maybe you've had some for years! - and exchange them for better Niche Coins and a new Niche Clinic Contract.

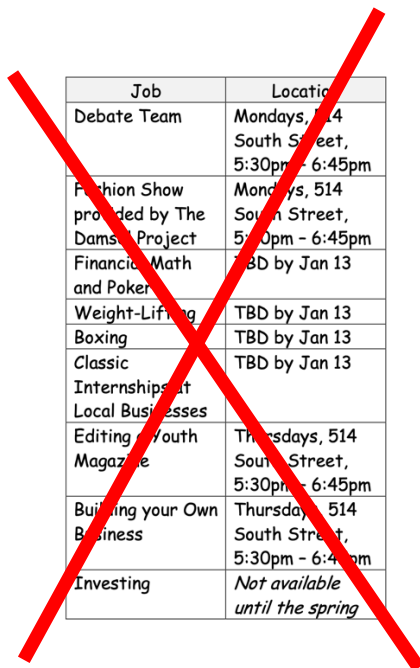

Contracts will now be given out at this date to ensure all students and parents know the safety, transportation and communication methods in place to ensure everyone knows exactly how hard they need to work, and in what ways, to learn and earn money.

Some very excellent student participants reminded The Niche Clinic of this diagram we created to outline our available programs.
